The University of Cape Coast is one of the rare sea front universities in the world. It was established in October, 1962 as a University College. With judicious planning and careful execution, the university has grown from a fledgling University College to an institution of excellence and choice.

The university, which is five kilometers west of Cape Coast, is on a hill overlooking the Atlantic Ocean. It operates on two campuses: the Southern Campus (Old Site) and the Northern Campus (New Site).

Two of the most important historical sites in Ghana, Elmina and Cape Coast Castle, are only a few kilometers from the university. The establishment of the university was a befitting tribute to this historic town and the cradle of education in Ghana. Cape Coast is now a growing tourist town with rich history and monuments.
