June 4 - June 23,
2012

Program Fee:

$3,950***

(*subject to change and does not include tuition or airfare)

Program Courses:

(students enroll in both courses)

ARTH 220: Topography and Archaeology of Ancient Italy

CLAS 203:
Roman Life

Program Information:

This study abroad program offers intense coursework concerning the art and architecture of ancient Italy. Participants will visit Rome, Florence, Capri, and Pompeii to examine works of art in their own context, in many cases considering buildings and paintings remaining in situ for centuries and millennia. Students will see the majesty of the Roman Empire in the archaeological remains of Rome. In Tuscany, they will explore the peoples that ruled north-central Italy at a time when Rome was a mere village on the Tiber. In Pompeii, students will get a glimpse of ordinary life as well as the sumptuous existence of a Roman aristocrat. The program is designed to offer an interactive education that requires students apply newly learned skills while abroad.

Participants should be able to walk for long periods of time on a daily basis, in some cases rigorous walking.

Program Directors:

Dr. Alvaro Ibarra, Art History Department, ibarraa@cofc.edu, 843-953-8212

Dr. Ibarra specializes in the art and archaeology of ancient Rome. His research concerns the Roman army on the frontiers of the Empire.

Dr. Timothy Johnson, Classics Department, johnsonts@cofc.edu, 843-953-3097

Dr. Johnson's scholarly pursuits include Augustan Literature and the Latin poets Horace and Ovid. He is the Chair of the Classics Department at the College of Charleston.
